

Peggy Cross, A.S.I.D. lives her life as a cultural creative. She has been a professional artist since 2008 and the A.R.E. library hosted her first show that same year. Her friends have heard music, received messages, seen spirits and experienced a vortex in her artwork. These paintings will talk to you if you are open and come with love in your heart. She has exhibited locally at Bishopsgate, The Charles Taylor Gallery, The Art Institute, a yoga studio (now closed), The Hampton Roads Center for Spiritual Living, previously here at Unity, and with the 703 Group of Hampton Roads for a charity event in Annapolis, Maryland. Her work has been featured at The Red Queen Gallery in Onancock, Virginia and Michael Millard-Lowe Antiques in Norfolk, Virginia. Her artwork is owned by clients in Japan, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, California, Florida, Texas, Michigan, Colorado and Wyoming.

"I was introduced to Peggy Cross's artwork and was blown away by the energy that emanated from it. I asked if I could touch her paintings because it seemed they were talking to me and the energy that went through me was phenomenal. What I realized was that Peggy's art is living and filled with healing, music, and feelings of beauty and joy. It seems that when you look at her art, the art calls to and adopts you. Her art is not a cold observation experience but alive and interactive. When you come to her art shows, ask to feel the paintings. You will not be disappointed."
